are: Howard's, Sam T. Jack's, Marlowe, New American, Olympic, Academy of Music, Alhambra, Avenue, Bijou, Chicago Opera House, Columbus Stock, Thirty-first Street, Criterion, Plegenbaum's, Milwaukee Avenue, Garrick, and Glickman's. In addition to these the London Globe museum and the Clark Street museum were also compelled to close their doors. The Chicago Opera House and the Olympic theater are vaudeville houses of the highest class, and probably do as much business in point of numbers as any of the theaters in the city as single performances. They give a matinee every day in the week and it is seldom that seats can be obtained for any performance at the time of opening.

MAYOR GOES INVESTIGATING

Grewsome Reminder of the Disaster Meets Him at the Threshold.

Mayor Harrison in company with Building Commissioner Williams, Alderman Mayor and several architects visited the Iroquois theater building and went over it thoroughly. As they stepped into the building the mayor accidentally trod on a large lock of human hair which had been torn from the head of some victim of the disaster. He shuddered, and removing the hair from his shoe placed it on one side of the hallway and passed in.

The mayor went everywhere except into the cellar; went out on the fire escapes, tried the exits and finally mounted into the rigging left above the stage. The dressing rooms were visited and the whole interior explored. B. H. Marshall, the architect of the building, accompanied the mayor.

When in the gallery the mayor paid particular attention to the exits and tried all the handles by which the doors are opened. The failure to comply with the ordinance requirement that exits shall be indicated by printed signs struck the mayor. It was also noted by the mayor that the ordinance requirement which insists that galleries above the ground floor must have a separate stairway leading to the street had been disregarded. This circumstance excited the indignation of Alderman Mayor.

Explaining the lack of a separate stairway for the second balcony Architect Marshall said: "There was no total space for the people to get out of the gallery than if separate stairs had been provided. The law requires eight inches of stair and door space for each 100 persons, and we had nearly three feet of such space."

To this Mayor Harrison said nothing, but commented again on the fact that damask curtains had covered the doors and that there were no signs indicating the exits.

HEARTY SYMPATHY COMES IN

Messages from Abroad Continue to Give Condolence with Chicago.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 2.—Governor Mickey has sent the following message of condolence, expressing the heartfelt sympathy of Nebraskans to the sufferers in the Iroquois disaster, to Mayor Harrison, of Chicago: "The people of Nebraska are inexpressibly shocked at the terrible calamity which has befallen your city. I extend to you and to all the bereaved and suffering ones the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of this state."

Berlin, Jan. 2.—Emperor William informed Ambassador Town, that he had telegraphed to President Roosevelt his sorrow over the Chicago disaster. Both the emperor and empress supplemented the verbal condolence by personal expressions to the ambassador.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 2.—Lord Minto, governor general of Canada, telegraphed President Roosevelt asking him to convey to the mayor and citizens of Chicago the profound regret of the people of Canada, in the great calamity which has befallen so many homes in that city.

Washington, Jan. 2.—The French ambassador has received a cablegram from President Loubet, asking him to express to President Roosevelt his sorrow over the Chicago disaster. This the ambassador has done.

STRANGE THEATRICAL INCIDENT

"Nearer My God to Thee" Sung by the Entire Audience.

St. Louis, Jan. 2.—An unusual incident occurred between the acts at night at the Century theater, when C. H. Congdon, who stated that he was from Chicago, arose from his seat and related incidents of the Iroquois theater tragedy.

He had proceeded only for a few minutes when some one in the audience began singing "Nearer My God to Thee," which was immediately taken up by the whole audience, the orchestra joining in with the accompaniment.

Rival to "Scrupulous Conscience"

St. Louis, Dec. 31.—"Scrupulous Conscience," who scattered $20,000, mostly in $50 bills, among the railroads and other corporations as Christmas presents, has a rival in "Honesty," who appears to have confined his generosity to the Big Four. Two letters have been received by the latter road, each containing $50. From the similarity of the handwriting and other features, it is thought "Scrupulous Conscience" and "Honesty" are one and the same person.

Jury Finds Gravelle Guilty

Helena, Mont., Jan. 2.—The jury has rendered a verdict of guilty against Isaac Gravelle, charged with sending blackmailing letters to the Northern Pacific officials and dynamiting its trains. He will be sentenced Monday.

San Francisco Man in Jail

New York, Jan. 2.—John A. Benson, of San Francisco, was in Ludlow street jail a night, owing to his inability to furnish $50,000 bail. Benson recently was indicted in Washington for bribing a federal official.

TRACED TO ITS CAUSE

Blunder That Resulted in the Chicago Fire Horror Has Been Uncovered.

WHAT KELD UP THE CURTAIN

Swinging Light Reflector on the Proscenium Arch Was in the Way.

Left That Way by Some One Who Failed to Do His Duty—Just That Cost Nearly 600 Lives.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Fire Inspector Monroe Fulkerson has announced that he has finally discovered the secret of the fire. The asbestos curtain upon which the safety of the audience depended was, according to Fulkerson, blocked in its descent by a steel reflector carelessly left open by a stage hand. While one end of the curtain got within five feet of the stage the other was suspended twenty feet above it, and beneath it swept the flood of flame that carried death to so many hundreds. Had this stage hand attended to his duty, it is safe to say, thousands of people in this and other cities would not have entered the New Year with a weight of sorrow on their hearts.

Aerial Wire Not the Cause

The wire used in the aerial ballet, mentioned as a possible cause of the curtain's failure to reach the stage, was proven to have been out of the way of the curtain as it descended. On each side of the proscenium arch at the theater was a metallic reflector, concave in form, twenty feet long and studded throughout its entire length with incandescent lights. Normally these lights fitted into niches in the masonry, but when in use were swung out in order that the lights might be thrown upon the performers upon the stage.

Just What Happened

When both reflectors were in place the fire curtain had no impediment in its course, but with either swung outward the descending curtain could not get below the reflector's top. Carelessness of some employee whose identity it will be the effort of the police to ascertain resulted in the combination of the open reflector and falling curtain which cost approximately 600 lives. John A. Mazzoni, who was employed as a scene shifter, was one of the first of the stage hands to be placed under arrest. After his release on bonds of $5,000 he disclosed the truth of the misplaced reflector to Fire Inspector Fulkerson.

STORY THAT IS TOLD BY MAZZONI

He Tried to Disengage the Falling Curtain, but Failed.

"I stood near the switchboard from which the fire started," said Mazzoni, "when I saw the flames shooting up from the drapery near the lamps. The fire curtain was coming down as I looked up, and almost at the same time I saw that one end was lower than the other, and as I looked close I could see that it was caught. I ran up on the bridge on the north side to try to get the curtain free. The bridge is twelve feet high, and although I climbed up on the rail I could hardly touch the bottom of the curtain. I tried to get hold of the edge of the curtain, but there was no one on the bridge to help and nobody came to my aid, so I soon despaired of releasing the curtain."

"When I reached the bridge I could see the sparks drifting under the curtain toward the audience. When I looked again, a few seconds later, a great sheet of flame was darting under the curtain and into the faces of the people. I stuck to the work of trying to get the curtain down until embers and pieces of scenery began falling on me and burning me, and then I ran across the stage and into the alley. I stayed at the door and helped everybody out until all had escaped who came that way."

Inspector Fulkerson, taking witnesses with him, at once went to the theater, where he found that although the flames had whirled the asbestos curtain into shreds, the reflector which had blocked its descent was still in the position as stated by Mazzoni.

THEATRICAL PEOPLE ARRESTED

Proprietors Among the Number—Noteworthy Fact—Preventive Rules.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—That the owners of the Iroquois theater shall not miss any punishment they may deserve Arthur E. Hull, who lost his wife and three children in the disaster, swore out warrants for Will J. Davis and Harry Powers, proprietors of the theater, and Building Commissioner Williams, charging manslaughter. The three men were arrested and put under $10,000 bonds to appear in court Jan. 12.

It is a noteworthy fact that Building Commissioner Williams, who is now charged with manslaughter in connection with the greatest fire horror the country has ever experienced, owes his appointment to a tragedy of similar nature, but of much less extent, which occurred two years ago. Williams' predecessor vacated his office after the burning of the St. Luke's sanatorium at Twentieth street and Wabash avenue, where a score of men suffering from delirium tremens were burned to death while strapped to their beds. Williams was selected with the idea that he was the proper man to see that no such catastrophe could happen again.

If the city can enforce the requirements now adopted for the construction and furnishing of theaters it will, it would appear, be impossible for any sort of fire to occur in a Chicago theater hereafter. These are they: Steel fire curtains; wide exits; no combustibles of any kind in the house furnishings; fire proof scenery; no calcium or "spot" lights to be used on the stage; skylights above the stage provided with automatic lids to permit the egress of smoke, fire gas; separate stairways, each exit; having its own stairs leading to the street.

The mayor said that he heard nothing of a rumor that a warrant was to be taken out for his arrest. "One cannot tell," he said, "what a man who has lost all of his family in a fire like that of Wednesday will do. He could hardly be held responsible for his actions."

BELLS TOLL A REQUIEM

Old St. James Begins and the Knell Sweeps Slowly Over the City.

Chicago's head was bowed in grief Saturday over the awful catastrophe of Wednesday afternoon. Business generally was suspended, the banks alone being the only commercial centers which for obvious reasons could not close their doors. The large dry goods houses along State street remained open during the earlier portion of the day in order to supply the demand for mourning goods, which has been unprecedented in the history of the city. It being evident by noon that this demand had been fully met the stores closed for the balance of the day.

For more than an hour at noon the bells of the city tolled a requiem for the dead. The idea of an hour of mourning was not generally disseminated, but when at noon the sound of the silver chimes of St. James Episcopal church were borne by the wind over the heart of the city it seemed as though every other church in the city caught from the inspiration and the bells of each responded at once. The churches in the outlying portions of the city were last to hear the tolling of the bells of St. James, but they at once followed, and on the bells of St. James had been silent two hours and more when the bells of churches in the southwest portion of the city began their tolling.

Yesterday over 100 funerals were held, in some cases two, three and four victims leaving the same house of mourning for interment. Coroner

Træger has proposed, and the mayor has endorsed a public funeral service for the unidentified dead. It is also proposed to build a monument by popular subscription in honor of the unidentified dead. This suggestion came from Coroner Træger and was approved by Mayor Harrison.

By order of Vice President Charles A. Plamondon, of the board of education, all of the public day and night schools in Chicago are closed today in order to permit of the interment of teachers and students lost in the Iroquois fire. Twenty-nine Chicago teachers lost their lives, and there are two missing.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request.

The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind.: Gentlemen—In December I was taken with a severe case of grippe, which brought on the worst cough I ever had, and for four weeks I was under a doctor's care. Part of the time I was not able to leave the house. My physicians said it would be a wonder if I stayed off pneumonia. This frightened me, and remembering some very strong testimonials I had seen in a Terre Haute paper about Milk's Emulsion curing so many cases like mine, I decided to send for a box. I received it about 6 o'clock in the evening, took three doses before retiring, and in two hours' time I could feel my chest loosen up, and by the next morning the soreness had all left me, and in two or three days I was entirely well and attending to business. I feel that I cannot say too much for Milk's Emulsion, as I believe it to be a truly wonderful remedy. Very truly yours, J. C. DAILY, Manager, Republic Oil Co., January 23, 1903. Evansville, Ind.

The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind.: Gentlemen—Yours at hand and in reply would say I have used Milk's Emulsion with excellent results. It helped my cold and cough immediately and I shall recommend it to my friends whenever I have a chance.

AWFUL EXPERIENCE

Indiana Man Had Getting Out of the Burning Iroquois Theater at Chicago.

WALKED OVER HEAPS OF DEAD

Had to Carry His Fainting Wife, but Got Out Safe—Miscellaneous Indiana News.

Crawfordsville, Jan. 4.—John Rosebaum and wife, of Waveland, were in the Iroquois theater disaster at Chicago and had a thrilling experience. Rosebaum states that he had his wife started to leave the place when the flames first broke out, but returned to their seats when Eddie Foy appeared and protested that there was no danger. They had barely seated themselves again before the explosion occurred and the panic began. Still Mr. and Mrs. Rosebaum remained in their seats until they were practically alone on the ground floor of the auditorium and the seats near the stage had begun to burn.

Walked over Dead Bodies.

Then they started out and were obliged to walk for more than 100 feet over the bodies of the victims of the disaster. Mrs. Rosebaum was carried by her husband, who is a powerful man. But for his aid she would surely have been lost. On the way out Rosebaum attempted to save another woman, but found the task too great and was obliged to drop her in the crush. Rosebaum states that the sensation of walking over the dead and dying bodies of the unfortunate victims was horrible.

Formerly a Muncie Man.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 4.—The list of the dead in the Iroquois theater fire, at Chicago, contains the name of Chester Buchanan, formerly of this city, and a brother of Frank Buchanan, of Muncie. Chester Buchanan was known to be in Chicago, but all efforts to determine whether it is the former Muncie man that was killed have proved unavailing. Leroy Langford, of this city, was an electrician in the theater. He escaped.

Well Known at Spiceland.

Newcastle, Ind., Jan. 4.—A telegram from Luther Newby to relatives in Spiceland, announces the death of his wife, and also her mother, who were attending the Iroquois theater at the time of the fire. Newby formerly lived in Spiceland, and his mother, Mrs. Samuel Painter, and other relatives now live there. His wife was well known in Spiceland.

CAME BACK WITH A SHOTGUN

Because He Was Bounced for Smoking in a Store—Sheriff After Him with "Shooting Irons."

Fontanette, Ind., Jan. 4.—Because he with his father and brother were ordered out of the Coal Bluff Coal mining company's store for smoking, and were afterward ejected, Andrew Patterson, aged 20, secured a shotgun, and returning shot at Charles Parrott and George Heine, who were behind the counter.

The two clerks dodged under the counter, but both were seriously wounded. Patterson escaped and is being pursued by five Terre Haute deputy sheriffs with riot guns. Patterson is armed. The family came recently from Pittsburg, Ky.

Careless Boy Kills His Cousin.

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 4.—Miss Grace Hammond, the 17-year-old daughter of Thomas Hammond, was accidentally shot and instantly killed by her cousin, Littleton Harvey, of Indianapolis, who has been visiting the family during the holidays. They went out from the residence with an old-fashioned gun. They had been absent from the house but a few moments when a rabbit ran around the couple. Harvey fired as he whirled around, striking Miss Hammond squarely in the breast.

Palmer University Suspends.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 4.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of Palmer university, of this city, it was decided to close the school for the present, although the fund of $100,000 necessary to secure the $100,000 of Francis S. Palmer, of New York, has been raised. Litigation over the Palmer will prevent the university drawing interest on the endowment and fund pledged, which money is necessary for the support of the school.

Lamp Explosion Costs $4,500.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4.—John W. Baugh & Sons, general merchants at Farmers' Institute, near this city, suffered $4,500 loss by fire, and Baugh was severely injured while trying to extinguish the flames. Lloyd Baugh, son of the chief owner, had been developing photographic plates in a dark room, and it is surmised that he left a lamp burning which exploded.

Prominent Man Commits Suicide.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 2.—Banker Charles F. Woods shot and killed himself in his bank at St. Charles, Ia., death resulting instantly. The cause of the tragedy is not yet known. So far as could be learned the bank was in good condition. Woods was a prominent member of church and several lodges.

City Attorney Held for Homeless.

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 2.—City Attorney Charles A. Jachum and J. L. Gulley, the latter the son of City Marshal Gulley, have been held to the grand jury for the killing of John W. Chamness at Creal Springs last Saturday evening. The arrest of Attorney Jachum came as a great surprise.

Pension Certificates Issued.

Washington, Jan. 2.—A New Year's greeting issued by E. F. Ware, commissioner of pensions, shows that 150,328 pension certificates were issued for the calendar year 1903, which is 25,000 more than were issued in 1902, and nearly 60,000 more than were issued in 1901.

Congratulations.

Mr. John H. Cullom, Editor of the Garland, Texas, News, has written a letter of congratulations to the manufacturer of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as follows: "Sixteen years ago when our first child was a baby he was subject to croupy spells and we were very uneasy about him. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in 1886, and finding it such a reliable remedy for colds and croup, we have never been without it in the house since that time. We have five children and have given it to all of them with good results. One good feature of this remedy is that it is not disagreeable to take and our babies really like it. Another is that it is not dangerous, and there is no risk from giving an overdose. I congratulate you upon the success of your remedy." For sale by all druggists.
